Choice Worms; Vagaries of Old-Time Printing

The Stroller column in Wednesday's Shreveport Times reported:

"W. B. Landay, who operates a bait stand at Pelican, was mystified the other day when he heard the bell ring for service and hurried outside to find that no customer was waiting.

"He went inside and in a few minutes the bell rang again. This time Landay peeked out the window to see who was jingling the cowbell he had rigged up. Instead of a fisherman, there was a bluejay ringing the bell and looking expectantly toward the front door.

"Landay figures he couldn't get a better testimonial advertisement for his worms than one from the birds."

But I can hear Mrs. Irene Dodson, Hope fisherman and flower gardener, making a rejoinder: "That's just another good reason for killing any and all bluejays. They're encroaching on fishermen's worms."

Last Saturday Managing Editor George S. Smith had an amusing story about adventures with an old-time printing type case, in his Arkansas Footprints column.

Puzzled by the peculiar arrangement of the alphabet in the type case he rearranged it in A-B-C order—until the shocked printing instructor made him return it to the conventional arrangement found in type cases.

The source of the conflict between George and the instructor, of course, was the fact that type is arranged in type cases so that the most-often used letters are nearest at hand.

I used to marvel over a similar phenomenon at the El Dorado Daily News back in the 1920s. The late Brown Turner, native of Olan, whose father founded the Nashville News, was a Linotype operator in the El Dorado News shop. After pounding a Linotype keyboard for a living he would come up to the editorial office and write with equal speed a letter on a typewriter.

I was mystified because Linotype and typewriter keyboards are drastically different. Brown never did explain to my satisfaction how he accomplished the trick.

It wasn't until the 1940s when the World War II draft of all our Linotype operators compelled me to learn how to run a Linotype that I found the answer.

On a typewriter keyboard you think horizontally—but you think vertically on a Linotype keyboard. When you change from one machine to the other your mind simply shifts gears.

So I learned Brown's secret. Oddly enough, what George was writing about last Saturday and what I am writing about today will in a few more years be Greek to the newspaper reader.

There are no more type cases, very few Linotypes—and the Linotype itself is no longer manufactured except on special order in a Mergenthaler Co. subsidiary factory in England.

"Cold type" from computer-governed phototypesetters has swept hot-metal machines and type cases into oblivion.

Neither Smith nor I could make our point stick if we were dealing with today's offset printing—for today's "cold type" is produced on a keyboard whose characters appear in the same order they are found on a typewriter.

Man dies in flaming crash

An Alzheimer man, Lawrence Cullipher, 32, was killed about 1:50 p.m. yesterday when an empty grain truck he was driving overturned and burned on State Highway 4 about three miles north of Hope. Cullipher was traveling south on Highway 4 when the truck's wheels left the pavement on the right side of the highway; the truck left the road and crossed the highway before overturning in a ditch. The truck burst into flames, and Cullipher was trapped in the wreckage. Cullipher's wife Donna, 29, escaped from the wreck, was treated at a local clinic for cuts and bruises and released. The Hope Fire Department was called to the scene to extinguish the blaze. Traffic flow was hampered for more than an hour, according to Patrolman Robert Neel, the investigating

Stans lashes out at Demo foes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's chief fund-raiser, Maurice H. Stans, has struck back on two fronts at Democratic headquarters-bugging-fair.

And Wednesday Stans joined in filing a $2.5-million civil suit against Lawrence F. O'Brien, former Democratic chairman and now chairman of Sen. George McGovern's presidential campaign. The suit charged O'Brien with abusing the federal-court process in connection with O'Brien's $1-million suit stemming from the break-in and alleged bugging of Democratic national headquarters.

A spokesman for O'Brien said the GOP suit was frivolous and "an attempt to intimidate us from pursuing our own suit against the Republicans. We will not be intimidated by such desperate tactics."

The Democratic National Committee, meanwhile, said a small black gadget described as a listening device was found in a telephone Wednesday at party headquarters. Committee officials said the device was removed by the FBI (Continued on page 10.)

Bill to slash funds for VN conflict doomed to failure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposal to cut off U.S. money for the Indochina war in four months appeared headed for certain defeat today in House action on a $74.6-billion defense bill.

Other amendments to the biggest military money bill since World War II included one to override the House Appropriations Committee and let the Army, Navy and Air Force turn over GI's KP duty to civilians.

"This may be the last chance of this Congress to speak out and end the war," said Rep. Joseph P. Addabbo, D-N.Y., author of the end-the-war amendment, in the opening debate

Wednesday. "The loss of one more life cannot be justified."

But Addabbo acknowledge off the floor that his amendment, identical to the one being pressed by Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., had almost no chance of approval in the House.

It would cut off all money except the amount needed to withdraw U.S. forces from the Indochina war in four months if Hanoi released American prisoners and gave an accounting of missing GIs.

The House on Aug. 10 rejected an amendment setting an Oct. 1 troop-withdrawal deadline. The 228-178 vote showed that the House cannot muster the votes for a policy stand against the war, much less the votes to cut off money.

In his opening statement, Appropriations Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., described the bill as "the largest money bill that has ever been presented to any legislative body in the history of the world."

Defense bills in the House totaled $101 billion at the height of World War II but were split into separate War Department and Navy Department measures.

The $74.6 billion for the fiscal year starting last July 1 is $4.3 billion below President Nixon's request and $1.8 billion above last year's figure.

After one short visit in David Pearson's classroom it is obvious why his name will be included in a publication entitled "Outstanding Elementary Teachers of America."

A native of Great Britain, Pearson emigrated to the U.S. in 1949. He attended Hope Public Schools and began his teaching career substituting on the fourth, fifth, and sixth grade levels at Hopewell, then an all-black school. "I wanted the challenge in teaching in an all-black school," he said, "and I've stayed with it. My one big dream is to someday teach on the secondary level, but I'm in no hurry. I'm happy where I am right now."

Pearson is a soft-spoken man with an open smile. He manages to captivate his students with his sense of humor and ability to make them feel a part of his class.

"I don't believe in talking down to my children," he said. "One of the hardest things a teacher has to do is to learn to never underestimate the intelligence of a child. I'm a rather demanding teacher. I believe in preparing my children for the future and for the work

Construction has started

Reynolds and Williams, Inc. of Little Rock, Arkansas announced that highway construction has begun on State Highway 29, South Hempstead County by Reynolds and Williams, Inc. of Little Rock.

The project consists of approximately 5.559 miles of grading, minor drainage structures, asphalt treated gravel base course, asphaltic concrete hot mix base and surface courses with bituminous treated shoulders and erosion control on the Lewisville-Hope Road.

The project begins in Evening Shade near the junction of State Highway 355 and extends north, mostly on new location, along the existing roadway to Hope.

A spokesman for the construction firm stated that motorists in the area would be temporarily inconvenienced.

The project is scheduled for completion in 240 working days. A low bid of $1,288,814.70 was accepted by the state Highway Department on July 26.

J. E. Belknap is the resident engineer and Charles Mitchell is the district engineer on the project.

National Merit semifinalists

Mike Waters of Hope was named today a semifinalist in the 1973 National Merit Scholarship Program. Waters, a senior, is a member of the "Hi-Lights" staff at Hope High School where journalism is his favorite subject. Mike, above, works on the first issue of this year's paper. (See article below.)

Senior is named NMS semifinalist

Hope High School principal Bobby Whitmarsh has announced that Michael P. Waters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom P. Waters of Hope, has been named a semifinalist in the 1973 National Merit Scholarship Program. Mike is one of 136 students selected in the state of Arkansas.

The approximately 15,000 Semifinalists appointed today are among the nation's most academically talented high school seniors. They will compete for some 3,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1973.

The Semifinalists received the highest qualifying scores in their states on the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test - National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, which was given last October to over 1,000,000 students in about 16,600 schools nationwide. They constitute less than one percent of the graduating secondary school seniors in the United States.

About 96 percent of the Semifinalists are expected to become Finalists, and each will be considered for one of the 1,000 National Merit $1,000 Scholarships which are allocated on a state basis. Many will also be considered for the renewable four-year Merit Scholarships provided by some 500 corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations, other organizations, and individuals. Each Finalist will receive a Certificate of Merit in recognition of his outstanding performance in the program.

Winners of four-year Merit Scholarships may receive up to $1,500 a year for four college years, depending on their individual need. Winners of the National Merit $1,000 Scholarships will receive their nonrenewable one-time awards after they enroll as full-time students in accredited U.S. colleges or universities.

High school grades, accomplishments, leadership qualities, and extra-curricular activities of the Finalists are evaluated, along with test scores, in selecting Merit Scholarship winners.

Mike has been active in various clubs and school activities at Hope High School. He is a member of the Quill and Scroll Honorary Society, serves as Sports Editor for "Hi-Lights" the school paper, was a representative at Boy's State, Key Club secretary, a member of the Beta Club Honor Society, and is a letterman on the Bobcat football team.

He is a newly appointed member of the official board of the United Methodist Youth and helped organize the Fellowship of Christian Athletes here in Hope.

"I thought I had done something wrong," he said, "when Mr. Whitmarsh called me to his office. When he told me about being a semifinalist I just couldn't believe it."

Mike is a senior at Hope High School and plans to attend Hendrix College where he will major in business. He plans to return to Hope and go into some sort of business for himself. "My main aim is to provide something for the youth to do here at Home."

American Party is off ticket

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The American party presidential ticket cannot appear on Arkansas' November general election ballot, Circuit Court Judge Warren E. Wood ruled Wednesday.

The judge upheld a contention that Secretary of State Kelly Bryant should not have given the party a 30-day extension for filing petitions that would reserve a place on the ballot for the ticket.

The ruling is expected to be appealed to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Wood said he concluded that neither a constitutional officer nor the judiciary can extend the time fixed by the legislature for the filing of petitions.

Bryant had extended the deadline after American party officials failed to obtain the required number of signatures on the petitions.

Wood also ruled against a contention by Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Ginger that Circuit Court did not have jurisdiction in the case.

The suit that Wood made his ruling on was brought by Thomas Glaze of North Little Rock, an attorney, on behalf of Mrs. Phyllis Brandon of Little Rock.

Glaze also has said that the party petitions contained more than 10,000 fraudulent signatures, but the allegation was not discussed at a hearing on the case Tuesday.

Glaze also contended that the first group of petitions was not filed with Bryant in time, but the judge's ruling did not discuss this allegation. Glaze had said the deadline for filing the petitions was March 4. They were submitted to Bryant May 22. Bryant granted the extension to obtain more signature after questioning the sufficiency of the petitions.

"I conclude that the 30-day limitation is a jurisdictional provision and that neither a constitutional officer of the judiciary can enjoy the luxury of extending the time fixed by the legislature for the filing of the required petition," wood said.

The American party circulated the petitions in order to qualify as a recognized party, with rights to ballot positions, under state law.

In 1968, the party's presidential nominee, Alabama Gov. George Wallace, won Arkansas' electoral votes.

The party candidates this year, presidential nominee John G. Schnitz and vice presidential nominee Tom Anderson, were certified to Bryant recently by the state convention of the party.

Bunker-to-bunker action reported at the Citadel

SAIGON (AP) — South and North Vietnamese forces were locked in savage, bunker-to-bunker combat at Quang Tri today, field reports said. It was the third straight day of heavy fighting there.

South Vietnamese marines have made no progress since Tuesday when a company of about 200 men fought their way into the southeastern corner of the 18th century Citadel.

Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen, reporting from the front, estimated the South Vietnamese held only about two acres of the 50-acre fortress.

Li. Col. Do Viet, a spokesman for the Saigon command, said marine reinforcements got into the Citadel, but field reports said these were replacements for casualties. There were no indications the North Vietnamese were able to get reinforcements into the Citadel.

Officers told Jensen nearly 700 North Vietnamese troops had been killed in fighting in and around the Citadel during the past five days. The South Vietnamese were said to be losing about 25 men killed and 125 wounded each day.

The South Vietnamese had anticipated clearing out the Citadel by the weekend, but it now appears it will take much longer. Tropical storm Floesie is due in the Quang Tri area over the weekend, and is expected to curtail American air strikes.

Nearly 50 U.S. B52 bombers struck on both sides of the demilitarized zone in support of the South Vietnamese at Quang Tri.

The eight-jet Stratofortresses hit at North Vietnamese supply dumps and troop positions at points ranging from near the port of Dong Hoi to within one mile of Quang Tri, dropping more than 1,100 tons of explosives.

U.S. fighter-bombers pounded rail lines and supply depots between Hanoi and the Chinese border for the fourth successive day Wednesday, including one of the main distribution points for war materials moving south from China, the U.S. Command reported.

The command also announced the loss of a Navy A7 during more than 310 air strikes throughout North Vietnam Wednesday. The jet was hit by antiaircraft artillery fire 80 miles north of the DMZ. The pilot bailed out and was rescued.

It was the 94th American plane the Command has reported lost over the North since the resumption of full-scale bombing April 6.

U.S. Air Force pilots reported they destroyed or damaged half a dozen barracks and support buildings in the major raid of the day against the Hau Lan storage and barracks complex 40 miles north of Hanoi.

The Saigon command reported that South Vietnamese bombers attacked an enemy troop, tank and truck concentration southeast of the Saigon-Phnom Penh highway near the Cambodian town of Kompong Trabek, about 80 miles west of Saigon. A communique claimed that 80 enemy troops were killed, five tanks and 22 trucks were destroyed and six trucks were damaged.

Earlier, the Camoodian command claimed that American planes knocked out 35 enemy tanks in the same region. The U.S. Command said it had no such report.

The Saigon command also reported two terror attacks that killed 10 civilians and w...

18. A grenade tossed into a wake near the provincial capital of Cheo Reo, in the central highlands, killed five mourners and wounded four. Gunners fired three mortar rounds into a ferry station 20 miles south of Da Nang, killing five civilians and wounding 14.

"In my life, Problems have become Opportunities to Trust," Mrs. Harry McKillip told Circle 8, WSCS, at a dinner meeting in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church on Monday evening, September 11. She based her personal testimonial on Ephesians 4:14 and told of the changes God has brought in her life through the Campus Crusade for Christ, a Lay Institute, and Explo '72. She concluded her remarks by saying, "People should share their faith with others."

Mrs. Paul Bain, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker after a potluck supper had been served to 15. The hostesses, Mrs. A.W. McIver and Mrs. Matt McCauley, had decorated the serving tables with philodendron, roses and other summer flowers.

Circle Chairman Mrs. Calvin Smith conducted a brief business meeting and welcomed the speaker and several other guests, Mrs. David Griffin, Mrs. Greer Bell, Mrs. Wayne Shaw, and Mrs. Tom Buchholzer. To close the meeting a friendship circle was formed, and all repeated the circle benediction.

'Liberated' Dates Not for Her

HELEN AND SUE: Whatever happened to the good old days when you met a guy and he thought you were nice so he asked out out?

Nowadays when you meet a guy, he thinks you're a not-bad chick, so he says, "Wanna get high with me tonight?" If you say "No," he asks, "Then you wanna meet me somewhere, like my place?" And likely he expects YOU to bring the food, wine, whatever.

I couldn't begin to tell you how many fellas have come on like this to me and my girl friends. Seems like men figure they're so much in demand that they don't have to "date" liberated females. They just imply, "I'm here, you lucky dames, so come and get me!"

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

By AILEEN CLAIRE

The Chinese do have a way with the cooking of vegetables. Whether American cooks can master the technique of undercooking so vegetables are crunchy and all the nutrients not cooked away remains a culinary question as more people attempt Chinese recipes. Stir frying brings vegetables to this tender, crunchy state. Especially good when prepared this way are celery, mushrooms, onions, thinly sliced carrots, summer squash, shredded cabbage and greens. There is a minute film of fat used and this helps seal in flavor and nutrients. Also, a little bit of water helps form a savory sauce and doesn't cook away as steam.

¼ cup toasted sliced almonds

In a large skillet saute celery, mushrooms, onion and green pepper in oil for 5 minutes, stirring frequently. Combine and add broth, ginger, salt and red pepper. Bring to boiling point. Cover, reduce heat and simmer 8 to 10 minutes or until celery is crisply tender. Remove vegetables to serving dish; keep warm. Mix cornstarch with water. Stir into broth in skillet. Cook until thickened. Spoon over celery mixture and sprinkle with almonds. Makes 6 portions. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Bud Wilkinson's 1972 preview

Cornhuskers could repeat as No. 1 in college football

EDITOR'S NOTE: Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma team from 1947 to 1963 won 145 games, including a still-record 47-game winning streak, tied four and lost 29 for one of college football's outstanding coaching performances. His 1955-56 Sooners were the last team to win consecutive national championships. He is now a sportscaster on the ABC-TV college football Game of the Week.

Several key players are gone from the Nebraska squad of last year, including quarterback Jerry Tagge, one of those rare individuals whose greatest attributes don't show on a computer or on the program roster. Leadership is always important but if this asset happens to be in a quarterback, then the job of coaching is so much easier.

Nebraska's toughest competition could come within the conference, Oklahoma and Colorado. The former will be played at home; the latter will be met on the road.

Oklahoma has the distinct disadvantage of playing both Nebraska and Colorado on the road. Colorado plays both of its toughest games at home, a definite asset, as any coach will admit.

Nebraska will have many challenges for the national crown. Washington and USC will be the teams to beat on the West Coast. The Texas-Arkansas game on Oct. 21 at Austin should decide the Southwest Conference title although Texas A&M will be greatly improved.

By BUD WILKINSON

As a former coach, I always preferred to be named Number 1 at the end of the season and not before. So, with this in mind, I have no intention of picking the best 1972 college football team in early fall.

Nebraska, however, has an excellent chance of winning its third straight national title, a feat no college team has ever accomplished. The pressure will be on Nebraska as every opponent will do its best to end the Cornhuskers' long winning streak.

I was fortunate to win successive national titles at Oklahoma in 1955 and 1956, and I realize the tremendous pressure facing the coaching staff and team.

There are several advantages Nebraska will have as the season begins. And the biggest one is pride. They know they can win. They have the winning attitude JOHNNY RODGERS of Nebraska, left, and Greg Pruitt of Oklahoma should be among college football's most exciting players again this season.

Michigan State, Jackie Wallace of Arizona and Joe Blahak of Nebraska, and linebacker Randy Gradishar of Ohio State and linemen Bud Mangrum of Colorado and Bruce Bannon of Penn State.

College football's biggest asset is that the game is always changing. New offenses. New defenses. And college coaches are more apt to gamble.

In 1968, Darrell Royal was

Will the Cowboys go all the way?

NEW YORK (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys are the big question mark again in the National Football League's National Conference.

Will the Cowboys go all the way again this year—despite the loss of No. 1 quarterback Roger Staubach?

Dallas will do quite well this year—probably making it to the playoffs as the No. 4 team from the NFC. But this pigskin prognosticator sees the Washington Redskins winning the East Division, with the Cowboys a close second.

Conference predictions

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Class AAAA conference race may begin to take shape this week.

Fort Smith Northside, 1-0 in conference play, takes on El Dorado, 0-1 in conference competition. Little Rock Catholic, 0-1, plays Little Rock Central 1-0, and Little Rock Parkview, 0-1, takes on North Little Rock Ole Main, 0-0.

In addition, conference favorite Little Rock Hall plays Little Rock McClellan, the favorite in Class AAA-East.

Northside, one of the four or five teams given a chance to step to the front should Hall falter, opened with a 23-20 victory over Parkview. El Dorado was upset last week by North Little Rock Northeast.

Northside warmed up for this week with a victory over Sylvan Hills. El Dorado will be at home in a must-win situation.

FS NORTHSIDE 13, EL DORADO 7.

Catholic lost its opener to Hall while Central began on a winning note, 16-6 over Pine Bluff.

Central may be back on the winning track.

LR CENTRAL 14, LR CATHOLIC 13.

Both Parkview and Ole Main need a victory.

Ole Main was upset last week by Jonesboro and Parkview has had an extra week to prepare.

LR PARKVIEW 20, NLR OLE MAIN 14.

State prestige will be on the line when McClellan plays Hall. The Lions are rated No. 4, the Warriors No. 1.

Hall destroyed Catholic and appears to be as strong as predicted.

LR HALL 21, LR MCCLELLAN 15.

Last week's percentage was .659, making the season's percentage .672.

Injuries claim Razorback's Clark Irwin

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Coach Frank Broyles said Wednesday that Clark Irwin, the Arkansas Razorback's starting strong safety, will be lost to the team for five to eight weeks because of a broken collarbone.

Broyles said wide receiver Mark Hollingsworth has been moved to the defensive secondary to add depth.

Quarterback Joe Ferguson, hospitalized Monday by a case of influenza, was released Wednesday, but Broyles said he did not think Ferguson would practice any this week.

Broyles said he still did not know if Ferguson's nose was broken.

Senior offensive tackle Mike Griffin also missed practice Wednesday because of a sprained back, but the injury was not considered serious.

"The last two days we spent working on fundamentals and trying to correct mistakes made in last week's game," Broyles said. "Tomorrow we will start simulating Oklahoma State's offense and defense."

"We've had two satisfying days and we've got a lot of things done," Broyles said. "Now we can start polishing our game plan for Oklahoma State."

The Detroit Lions can't be completely counted out, but defense—or the lack of it—will be the story of this team for 1972.

Quarterback Greg Landry can hold his own with anybody—but he doesn't play defense.

David Reavis: Seeking improvement

By DAVE BAER

For a brief time Saturday night at War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock, David Reavis believed that the Arkansas Razorbacks' defense was invincible.

The time: second quarter. The situation: Southern California was threatening, one-yard away from Arkansas' end zone on second down. The result: failure for USC and a classic goal-line stand for the Razorbacks.

Although USC went on to destroy Reavis' illusion with a 28-point explosion in the second half, the senior right defensive tackle from Duncan, Okla., believes Saturday's moment of triumph will exert a positive influence on the future.

"At the time, I thought stopping USC gave us a big lift," Reavis said. "I didn't think they would score at all after we stopped them. Although the second half didn't prove me true, I think the fact that we were able to stop them should help the defense in the future. It put confidence in our goal-line defense."

Reavis and linebacker Scott Binnion, another senior, made initial contact on USC's runner on fourth down. "We had called a gap defense where we applied outside pressure," Reavis explained. "The runner just happened to come to my side."

Now that USC is past, the Razorbacks have begun to prepare for their next opponent, the Oklahoma State Cowboys (Little Rock, Sept. 23). For the defense, the preparation will be intense, Reavis said.

"I know our pass rush wasn't adequate against USC, so we're going to improve there," the 6-4, 245-pounder said. "We started out with the first practice Monday in an effort to eliminate the slack that we had last week."

"I don't think the players have their heads down," he continued. "I think we're going to come back, I think we'll do alright in the future. There are quite a few seniors on defense, and there's unity. We came up together, went through some hard times together. As a result, we're a close-knit group."

Playing Oklahoma State has special significance for Reavis. He's an "Okie" by birth and people back home don't let him forget it.

"My parents' friends really get on me about playing OSU," he said. "Duncan is about 70 miles from Norman (the home of the Oklahoma Sooners) and about 200 miles from Stillwater (the home of OSU). Duncan may be an OU-oriented town, but when it comes right down to it, the folks there would rather see State win than Arkansas any day."

Reavis, who plans to complete work toward his degree in marketing either this spring or summer, looks at the overall season from a standpoint of personal improvement.

"Last year I felt I could have been a lot better," he said. "This year I'm trying to improve as an overall player. I just have to learn my techniques and be a disciplined football player. Other than that, it's just a matter of all-out effort."

Red Sox still No. 1

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox took over first place last week and still find themselves in that euphoric position. How's that for longevity?

It's not bad considering the unstable condition of the American League East pennant race. Especially the unstable condition of second place in the East.

Since the Red Sox took over the No. 1 spot on Sept. 7, the other three contenders—Detroit Tigers, New York Yankees and Baltimore Orioles—have all occupied the No. 2 spot.

They continued baseball's version of musical chairs Wednesday night while the Red Sox solidified their hold on first with a 7-2 victory over the Yankees. If you can call a one-game lead solid, that is.

"The biggest thing that this game did for us," said Boston Manager Eddie Kasko, "is that we left home in first place and we're going home in first place."

The Red Sox, who had a half-game lead Tuesday, now hold a one-game advantage over the Tigers, who beat the Orioles 6-5 Wednesday night. The night's events left the Orioles and Yankees tied for third, 1½ games back.

"It's no different than it probably was a week ago," said Kasko. "As far as trying to pick someone, or say that someone's got an advantage, well, it's all right to speculate ... but you'd better not predict."

Ralph Houk, the Yankee manager, still fears the defending league champion Orioles.

"I still think that Baltimore's the team to beat," said Houk. "It's hard to lose that thought in my mind."

The Oakland A's remained the team to beat in the West, beating the Minnesota Twins 8-0 to grab a three-game lead over Chicago. The White Sox lost 6-4 on a decision to the Kansas City Royals.

The Milwaukee Brewers trimmed the Cleveland Indians

3-1 and the California Angels nipped the Texas Rangers 6-5 in the other American League games.

National League scores: Pittsburgh 6, Chicago 4; New York 11, Philadelphia 6; Cincinnati 8, Atlanta 6; St. Louis 5, Montreal 4 in 11 innings; Houston 6, San Diego 5 and San Francisco 7, Los Angeles 1.

The Red Sox, held hitless through four innings by Rob Gardner, broke open the game with a four-run fifth inning that sent the Yankee left-hander to an early shower.

After the Yankees chased Boston starter Lynn McGlothen on Felipe Alou's two-run double in the seventh, the Red Sox came up with three more runs in the eighth off reliever Ron Klimkowski.

It's silly season for the also rans

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

It is September in the National League and with the division races all but clinched, this has become the silly season for the also-rans.

Take, for example the Philadelphia Phillies and New York Mets who put on quite a show Wednesday night.

The Phillies, befitting a team with the worst record in the Western Hemisphere, came out on the short end of the 11-6 score in a debacle that lasted three hours, 35 minutes—the longest nine innings of baseball this season.

The game featured 11 pitchers, 17 walks, 26 men left on base, two wild pitches, a passed ball and two errors. But none of that was as funny as the frantic contact lens search staged by rookie catcher Bob Boone of the Phillies.

Boone started pawing the ground around home plate in the seventh inning after losing his lens. Soon he was joined by plate umpire Doug Harvey, other players and coaches. Caught up in the emergency, Phillie pitcher Jim Nash rushed from the dugout with a head set over his ears and began scanning the ground with the jack end as if it were a geiger counter.

The fruitless search lasted four minutes, 10 seconds before the umpires ordered play resumed. Boone worked the rest of the way with a spare lens and after the game ended, the rookie and a couple of helpers showed up with flashlights to resume the search.

Perhaps they were looking for the end of this long, long season.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, division leaders Cincinnati and Pittsburgh both reduced their magic numbers. The Reds got theirs down to nine with an 8-6 victory over Atlanta in 10 innings and the Pirates cut theirs to five by beating Chicago 6-4. Houston edged San Diego 6-5, St. Louis nipped Montreal 5-4 in 11 innings and San Francisco whipped Los Angeles 7-1.

John Mackey is 'up for grabs'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

John Mackey, voted the best tight end in pro football's first 50 years, now is up for grabs in the National Football League after being put on waivers by the Baltimore Colts.

The 30-year-old veteran had told the Colts he wanted to be traded or put on waivers if he would have to play behind Tom Mitchell, who was elevated to the starting tight end position last season.

The Colts announced Monday that Mackey had retired. He denied it and said he just wanted to go to another NFL team. So Coach Don McCafferty announced Wednesday that Mackey had been waived. If he is not claimed before 4 p.m., Friday he will become a free agent.

Elsewhere, Coach Don Shula said he would use a three running back rotation in the Miami Dolphins' season opener Sunday against Kansas City.

Shula said Mercury Morris, Jim Kiick and Larry Conka are "all first stringers." Morris said after the Dolphins' 24-3 loss to Dallas in last year's Super Bowl that he wasn't getting enough playing time, and indicated he wanted to be traded unless his status changed. He has led the Miami rushing game in preseason action with a 6.9 yard per carry average.

Roster changes made by NFL teams Wednesday included the acquisition of running backs Charlie Pittman and Dave Kopay and wide receiver Jon Stagers by the Green Bay Packers. Stagers was claimed on waivers from Pittsburgh while Pittman and Kopay were free agents after having been released recently by Baltimore and Oakland, respectively.

The New York Giants claimed running back Joe Ornduna from San Francisco and placed running back Vin Clements on the taxi squad. Second-year quarterback Leo Hart was picked up by Los Angeles after being waived by Atlanta. Buffalo cut wide receiver Dennis Homan and New Orleans dropped linebacker Bob Grant.

Former Heisman Trophy winner John Huarte was acquired by the Chicago Bears. The one-time Notre Dame quarterback signed with the New York Jets for $200,000 when he ended his college career in 1964. His last club was the Kansas City Chiefs, who recently released him.

It's just like old times for Yankee wives

RIDGEWOOD, N.J. (AP) — As the New York Yankees battle for first place in the homestretch of the American League East pennant race the wife of the club's manager recalls it's just like old times.

"The players are all enlisted," says a smiling Mrs. Ralph Houk. "We've got pennant fever. We were used to all those pennants."

Not since 1964 have the Yankees won a championship. Before that, the Yanks consistently were champions.

But through it all, Bette Parker Houk has been a watching, cheering, listening, supporting part, because Ralph loves it.

"Ralph worries about the game, and I worry about the game and Ralph," she says.

Being a manager's wife means free box seats above the dugout when the team's at home, and day after day of feeling like a widow when it's on the road; it's having an inside track to what's going on in a seemingly glamorous world, but being a perpetual diplomat and saying only the right thing to team members.

It's a world she feels so at home in that she says "we" when referring to the Yankees. "It's often a life of hurry up and wait," she says. "When we win, they take a long time coming out of the dressing room but when we lose, it's bad. Not just one game, but if there's a streak ... there's a lot of pressure."

When the Yanks are losing, Mrs. Houk has to know the right thing to say. Or not say.

"I don't mention baseball until Ralph does, and then I talk," she says.

Mrs. Houk says she has learned to adjust and keep busy and not feel sorry for herself when Ralph is on the road.

grid quiz

by Dave Nelson, executive secretary, NCAA Football Rules Committee

An Arizona State defensive halfback, with the score Arizona State 3 and Oregon 7, intercepts a pass with 90 seconds to play and runs to the Oregon 3-yard line. In his exuberance at intercepting the pass he throws the ball to his bench.

The official should:

1. Put the ball in play for Arizona State at the 3-yard line first down and 10 to go.
2. Penalize Arizona State

15 yards with first down and goal to go at the 18-yard line.

3. Give Oregon the option of replaying the down.

Answer: Number 2. Penalize Arizona State 15 yards with first down and goal to go at the 18-yard line.

Rule: (9-2-1-a-4) After a score or at any other time the player in possession must return the ball to an official immediately.

that is ahead of them." He said he believed that the most important thing a teacher could do for a child was to set the right example. "I try to teach my kids to take pride in a job well done, and help them learn how to get along with other people. I'm more concerned with teaching the total human being; not just what information that can be gleaned from a textbook."

Pearson is a graduate of Hope High School and holds a BA degree from Phillips College in Oklahoma and an MSE in English from Henderson College, Arkadelphia. He is a licensed minister and was the minister of the First Christian Church in Lewisville a few years ago.

"I'm concerned with teaching the total human being."

He said that he thought one of the main reasons he was named "Outstanding Elementary Teacher" was because of his extra curricular activities. He is editor of "Hopewell Holler," a school newspaper. He, said smiling, "That's a paper that is light on news and heavy on articles of interest to all the students. I try to include a lot of original art and writings and give it a light touch. The paper is a wonderful get-acquainted device and we all enjoy it tremendously."

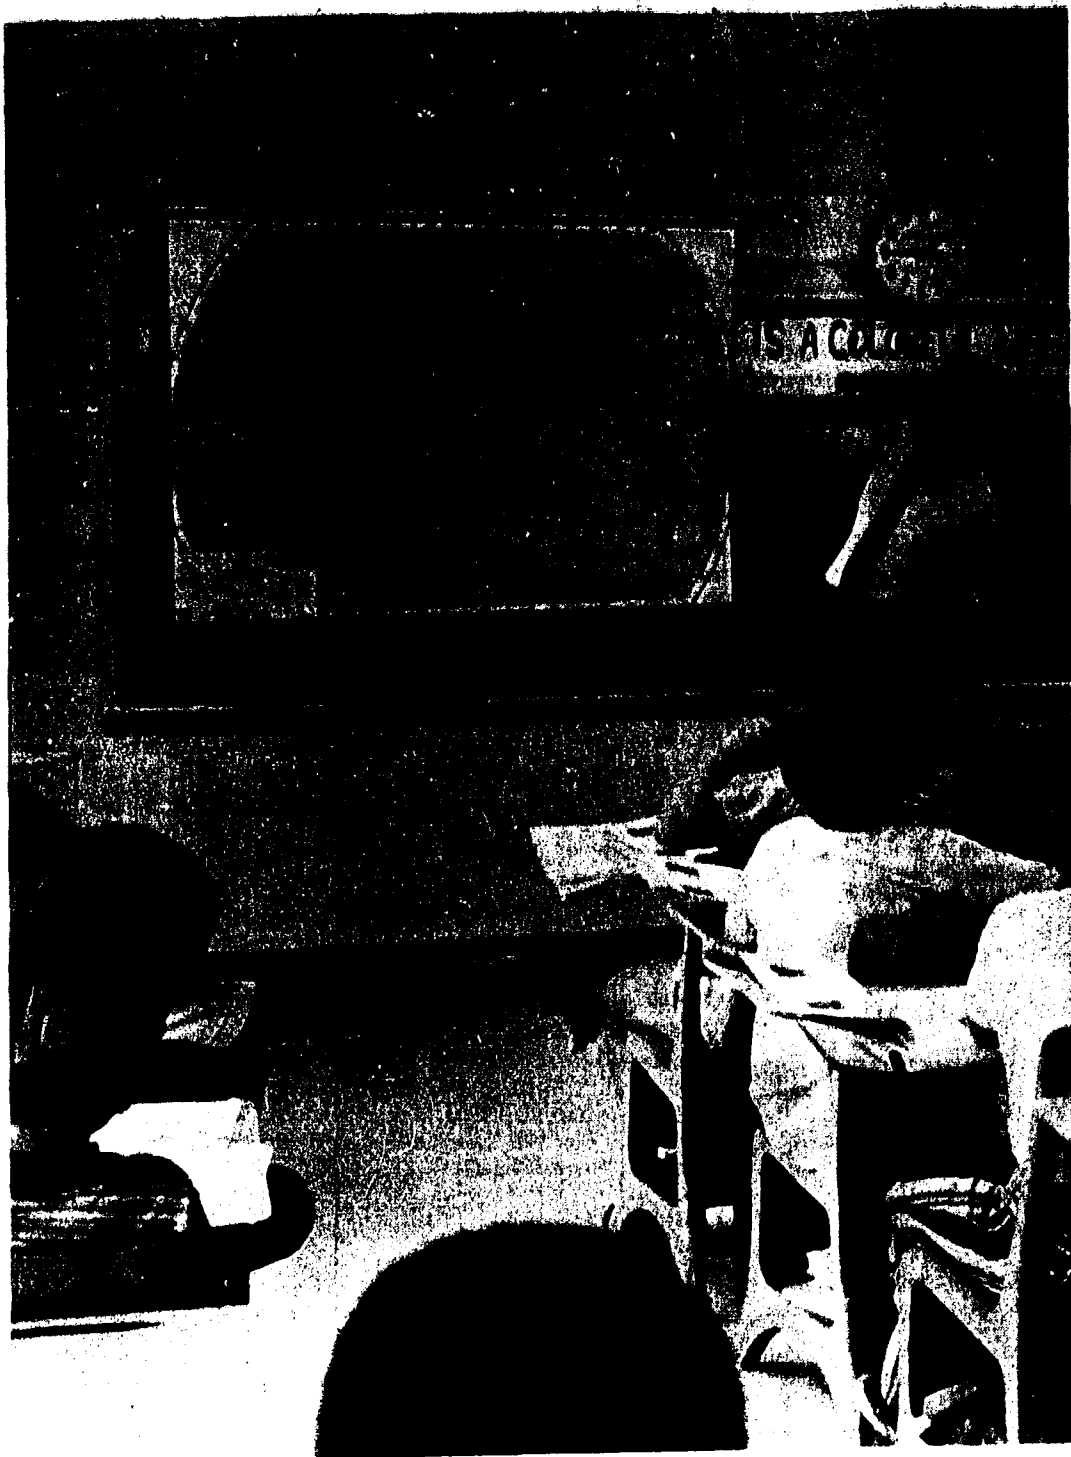

Pearson also initiated a good citizenship club at the school.

"The primary concern of the club," he continued, "is to teach parliamentary procedure and explain how democracy works." He wrote a play two years ago entitled "Gunjoke." "That was sort of take-off on the television show 'Gunsmoke.' I had about 30 kids in the cast and we had a wonderful time putting it on. One of my main loves is the theatre and I think that this is just another part of a child's education."

Discipline has presented no problem for him. "If the discipline is poor it is the teachers fault," he said. "I try to show respect for my kids and maintain my sense of humor. In turn, they respect me and we get along just fine. I love my job and my children and they know it."

Pearson said that he looked upon this award as a "tribute to the teaching profession as a whole. There are thousands of teachers across the nation that do the same thing I'm doing. I just wish we could get more parents interested in the schools and what is going on here. It is so important to the child

"After all," he grinned, "these kids are the future of our nation."

Pearson: "Never underestimate the intelligence of a child."

McGovern, Shriver working hard

Sen. George McGovern and running mate Sargent Shriver maintained an active campaign pace today while President Nixon worked behind the scenes and Vice President Agnew announced he would begin campaigning next week.

Meanwhile, Republicans filed a counter-suit in the Watergate bugging case and Maurice Stans, the chief Nixon campaign fund-raiser, denied he knew anything about the transfer of Republican campaign funds from Mexico into the United States. McGovern, who has had important help in his Democratic presidential campaign this week from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, planned to campaign in Albany, N.Y., New York City and Waterbury and Hartford, Conn., today.

In New York City, McGovern and Shriver will make an appeal at a banquet tonight for badly needed campaign funds.

Shriver claimed commitments Wednesday totalling $100,000 from 25 Texas businessmen attending a luncheon in Houston.

President Nixon met for the second day with Republican leaders and key advisers at his Camp David retreat in Maryland. He returned to Washington later.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said they were mapping plans for the final eight weeks of the presidential campaign.

Vice President Agnew announced he will start a nine-day campaign trip to seven states starting next Tuesday in Minnesota and Missouri. Other stops will be in Ohio, Tennessee, Kentucky, Texas, Illinois and the District of Columbia.

Kennedy and McGovern appeared before 30,000 people in rallies in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia Wednesday. McGovern pledged in Philadelphia to cut the nation's welfare rolls by 30 per cent by 1975 through welfare reform and a government-backed full-employment policy.

Shriver picked up the endorsements of several labor leaders in San Antonio. "We've now got labor union support in Texas, and I'm confident that the Mexican-American vote will be behind the ticket, and also the blacks," he said.

Shriver was to be in Florida today.

In the Watergate case, Democrats claimed they were bugged a second time at their National Committee offices at the Watergate building in Washington. A spokesman said a small black listening device was found in the telephone of Spencer Oliver, executive director of the committee's State Chairmen's Association.

In other developments: —The White House was expected to announce that Mrs. Nixon would travel to Yellowstone National Park on Sept. 20 to help commemorate the 100th anniversary of the national parks system.

—Martha Mitchell, wife of former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, denied reports that Mitchell resigned as Nixon's campaign director because she suffered a nervous breakdown. "I think it is rotten after all I have done for the Republican party for them to cast aspersions on me," she said.

Momentum seen in campaign

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Two days of greeting large, enthusiastic crowds with Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has given George McGovern's uphill presidential campaign a badly needed aura of momentum.

From Minneapolis Monday night to the heart of Philadelphia Wednesday, the McGovern-Kennedy team encountered the most consistently uplifting gatherings the Democratic presidential campaign has seen since the California primary.

A major question, however, is how much the new lift in the campaign is due to Kennedy, the acknowledged superstar among Democratic leaders, and how much will remain after he leaves McGovern's side tonight.

A related issue, in view of the considerable distance McGovern must make up, is how valuable this sort of campaigning is compared with last week's schedule of lower-keyed events aimed largely at producing television coverage.

Though Kennedy is credited with much of the added enthusiasm surrounding the McGovern campaign this week, the cheers for the South Dakota senator have been consistently louder and more sustained than those for his Massachusetts colleague.

While Kennedy's rhythmic cadences have been more forceful than the milder McGovern manner, the Democratic nominee displayed more oomph than usual as he recited his now-familiar litany—the vow to bring all U.S. troops and prisoners home from Vietnam, to "never again" commit them to defend a dictatorship and the scorn of the Republican slogan of "four more years."

One immediate dividend of the trip with Kennedy was renewed backing for McGovern from old-line party leaders in Chicago, Pittsburgh, and Philadelphia. Another was the increased exposure, with the large crowds plainly visible on the evening network-television news shows.

But that won't happen every day, and some McGovern advisers doubt the value of more than a day or two of this sort of thing at a time.

"Sure, we want the momentum, the psychology and all of that," said one strategist. "But we have got to get him on conversationally as well as shouting."

Mills to push for tax bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills says he hopes to steer through the House next year a major tax-reform bill, probably including substantial revision of the capital-gains tax.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, also hopes for House passage next year of a national health-insurance bill and one on foreign trade.

But he said that if the Senate again fails to agree on a welfare-reform measure "I cannot ask the House to go up that mountain a third time."

In the last Congress the House passed a reform bill along lines proposed by President Nixon, only to see it die in the Senate. The House last year passed a similar bill which is still bogged down in the Senate Finance Committee as adjournment of the present Congress approaches.

Mills discussed the outlook in an interview as his committee began a series of executive sessions to trim its agenda for the remainder of the present Congress, which hopes to adjourn by about Oct. 14.

The only remaining major piece of legislation assured of committee action is an increase in the national-debt ceiling, on which hearings begin Monday. The committee also may act on tax credits for parents of children in nonpublic schools, but chances of final passage of such legislation at this session are slender.

Mills indicated he cannot support Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern's proposal to phase out the preferential tax treatment of capital gains in three years. Generally speaking, such gains are taxed at half the rate of ordinary income.

With a caution that "I am only thinking out loud," Mills said he is interested in proposals to establish a graduated scale for taxing the increased value of assets, so that those held longest would carry the lowest rate. The minimum period for which an asset must be held before the profit on its sale is taxed as a capital gain should be longer than the present six months, he said.

Mills indicated agreement with Nixon that federal action is needed to relieve property taxation and enhance equality of educational opportunity between rich and poor states, as well as districts within states.

16 soldiers died in VN

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today reported 16 American casualties in Vietnam last week, including one man killed in action, four dead from nonhostile causes, three missing or captured and eight wounded.

It was one of the lowest U.S. casualty counts since the North Vietnamese offensive began five and a half months ago.

However, reported South Vietnamese casualties were the highest in a month, and the Saigon command claimed the biggest enemy death toll since mid-June.

It reported 3,449 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed and 99 captured last week, while government losses were put at 638 men killed, 2,204 wounded and 97 missing.

The allied commands now have reported these total casualties for the war:

American—45,857 killed in action, 303,380 wounded, 10,269 dead from nonhostile causes, 1,785 missing.

South Vietnamese—154,963 killed, 405,450 wounded.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong—886,065 killed.

Career of Ann-Margret may be over

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A year ago, Ann-Margret was undergoing the effects of a show business career that had suddenly turned hot.

"I've been feeling so much tension, such pressure," the Swedish-born entertainer said.

Now, at 31, Ann-Margret may be forced to end her career.

On Sunday night she fell 22 feet from a scaffolding on which she was to make her entrance at a Lake Tahoe hotel-casino.

She suffered five facial fractures, a broken jaw and a broken left arm.

Firemen on scene of fatal wreck

Smoke boils from the charred wreckage of an empty grain truck which overturned north of Hope yesterday (Wednesday) as members of the Hope Fire Department pours water on it. The driver of the truck, Lawrence Cullipher, 32, of Altheimer, was killed in the wreck.

Stans lashes out --

after a secretary reported that the phone line was not functioning properly. Newsmen were not allowed to see the device. The FBI would not comment on the incident.

Stans, former Commerce secretary, has been drawn into the controversy because $114,000 in Republican campaign funds was held for a time in the Miami bank account of one of the men charged in the break-in.

Stans, in a statement Wednesday, said reports "that I knew of an approved complex plan to transfer funds from contributors to Mexican banks and then to the Finance Committee to Re-Elect the President (are) not true."

The Banking Committee investigation quoted another Nixon fund-raiser as saying he had cleared the legal aspects of moving the money from Mexico with Stans.

Stans did not comment directly on that statement by William Liedtke, president of Pennzoil Corp. in Houston.

Stans said the purpose of the report was obviously political. He said the staff broke promises made to him by committee Chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., that the report would be confidential and Stans could see it in advance.

He called the report "a compilation of deliberate falsehoods, misrepresentations and slanted conclusions—all politically motivated."

The lawsuit was brought by

Stans' finance committee and its parent, the Committee for the Re-election of the President.

Clark MacGregor, Nixon campaign director, said "O'Brien and his associates have taken willful advantage of the honorable procedures of the United States court that are intended for the protection of individual rights and perverted them into an instrument for creating political headlines." O'Brien filed suit against the five break-in suspects and is now trying to expand the suit to $3.2 million and add Stans and other Republicans as defendants.

McGovern has been using the bugging controversy as a major campaign issue and both sides have traded charges on a variety of campaign-finance matters.

South took his ace of hearts and cashed his ace and king of spades. East discarded the seven of clubs and South paused for a moment before leading a third trump.

West took his queen and got out with a heart. South played on a while but eventually misguessed the queen of diamonds and was one down.

This was a very nice rubber bridge game. South apologized at length for misguessing the queen of diamonds. North apologized for having a poor no-trump and commiserated with South about the bad luck in trumps.

We said nothing because kibitzers should be seen and not heard. Still, we can use this column to show how South should have made his contract.

He should have led a club to dummy's ace; discarded his two remaining clubs on two hearts; ruffed dummy's last club; entered dummy with the king of diamonds and played dummy's last heart.

If West ruffed that trick he would be hopelessly endplayed. If he discarded a club he would only postpone the inevitable. He would be thrown in with the queen of trumps and caught in that same end play.

Baha'i Faith film available

LITTLE ROCK—A state-wide public service of the Baha'i Faith to Hope will be available beginning Sunday, in preparation for the year-long commemoration of the 30th anniversary of the establishment of the first Baha'i Assembly in Arkansas.

Mrs. Buelah Magruder has been selected to serve as Baha'i Public Service Coordinator for the state. She will head a team of volunteer workers to answer requests for information and arrange for speakers and films to be shown in Arkansas cities.

Her office will be located in the Little Rock Baha'i Center, 511 North Pine Street and she will work in close cooperation with the 45 Baha'i communities across the state.

Mrs. Magruder received her education in the College for Christian Workers in Kansas City. She served as Religious Education Coordinator for the Methodist Church in Kansas, Pennsylvania, and Arizona, also serving at the midwinter and summer Methodist institutes. She went on to receive her nurses training so she might also serve people in that capacity. Since no one may receive money for teaching the Baha'i Faith, Mrs. Magruder supported herself as a nurse while working with Baha'i communities in England, Scotland, Germany, France, Holland, and the Near East.

The Public Service Coordinator position has been developed in response to the increasing number of requests for information about the Baha'i Faith. Since last November, when Arkansas was host to a Baha'i conference representing 33 states and 4 other countries, the growth has accelerated so that an average of one new Baha'i center is opening every hour, somewhere in the world. The total number has now exceeded 60,000.

To begin the film library that Mrs. Magruder will coordinate, the Baha'is of Arkansas have purchased a documentary film about the Baha'i Faith, entitled "The New Wind," made by award-winning producer, Charles Stoney. Filmed on location in the Holy Land, India, Japan, Africa, Australia, and Europe, as well as many parts of this country, the film depicts the development of the way of life among the Baha'is everywhere. The film will be shown to groups free on request.

BODY RECOVERED

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The body of a man found floating Tuesday in Horseshoe Lake near Scott has been identified as David L. Hardwick, 44, of Little Rock, the Pulaski County sheriff's office said Wednesday.

Police said cause of death had not been determined.

Hopalong Cassidy: Movie cowboy hero is dead at 77

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I'm not the man people remember as Hopalong Cassidy," actor William Boyd often said in turning down interviews after bouts with cancer and Parkinson's disease. "They'd be shocked at the difference."

Boyd, who achieved international fame as the silver-haired Hoppy in 92 motion picture and television films, died Tuesday night, a few months after he entered a South Laguna Beach, Calif., hospital. He was 77.

Complications from Parkinson's disease and congestive heart failure were reported as the immediate cause of death.

Funeral services, which were expected to be private, were being arranged.

Boyd, who became interested in children, preached the home virtues to them.

"The way I figure it," he said, "if it weren't for the kids I'd be a bum today. They're the ones who've made my success possible. They're the ones that should benefit from it."

Boyd donated part of his fortune to children's hospitals and homes.

He founded a club called Hoppy's Troopers that had an idealistic code of conduct.

High ethics were a part of the Hopalong Cassidy characterization, which ran for 25 years in movies and on television and radio.

Hopalong pursued bad guys relentlessly, but he tried to bring them back alive. If forced into a showdown, he let the villain draw first. Smoking, drinking, swearing or romantic involvement were taboo for Hoppy.

But in the early 30's his name became linked with gambling and scandal. His career seemed doomed until a Paramount producer offered him a role in what became the Hopalong Cassidy series.

Boyd retired in 1963.

JPH plans to introduce highway bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., plans to introduce a bill to designate 10,000 miles of roads as priority primary highways.

The congressman's office said Wednesday that under the proposal, highways selected could be developed under four-lane interstate standards. All highways selected would be improved on a priority basis as supplemental routes to the interstate system.

Hopefully, Hammerschmidt said this would include some mileage in Arkansas for north-south corridors.

He said the highways would be selected by 1974 by state highway officials in cooperation with federal officers. He said the roads would be improved on a priority basis as supplemental routes to the interstate system.

ROTARY SPEAKER—Ronald Nance, assistant production manager at Young American Homes plant here was the guest speaker this morning (Thursday) at the regular meeting of the Hope Optimist Club. Also attending was George Garrett, plant manager. The Young American Homes plant is now turning out three mobile homes a day, Nance told the group. This plant has a trade area which includes 11 states. The group met at the Town and Country Restaurant.

Women barred from roles in church by Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI barred women today from even the smallest formal role in the ministry of the Roman Catholic Church. He also restated celibacy rules for deacons and priests.

In a motu proprio—a decree by his own hand—the Pope extended the lower church ministries of Bible reading and altar service to lay Catholics provided they are men.

"In accordance with the venerable tradition of the Church, installation in the ministries of lector and acolyte is reserved to men," the 74-year-old pontiff declared.

The ruling does not actually prohibit women from Bible reading or from performing some altar services, but it bars them from formal investiture by a bishop to do so.

The ban was a setback to many in the Church, from cardinals to nuns, who had called for a role for women among Church "ministries" in keeping with the modern principle of equality of sexes.

The Pope said he made the decision after "having taken into account the views" of bishops around the world. However, he has not implemented a recommendation by the 1971 Synod of Bishops which urged the Vatican to set up a special commission to seek ways to enhance the role of women in the church and in society at large.

By his decree, the Pope denied Catholic women formal ministerial recognition of what they have been doing since the 1962-65 Ecumenical Council.

The decree radically revised the "minor and major orders," the traditional stages by which candidates were prepared for priesthood.

Saying he was removing "what is obsolete," the pontiff dropped the orders of porter, exorcist and subdeacon.

He retained two of those of lector and acolyte, and called them "ministries" rather than "minor orders." This was to indicate they also were being extended to laymen who did not intend to become members of the clergy as deacons or priests in the future. He also abolished the tonsure—the custom of shaving the crown of the head—for lectors and acolytes.

Lay lectors were given the functions of reading the Bible—except for the Gospel—and direct singing during mass. Acolytes are to assist priests at the altar and even give Communion to help the priest with large crowds or when priests and deacons are not available.

In recent years many bishops have allowed nuns to give Communion when there were no priests available.

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Arthur K. Watson and Chinese Ambassador Huang Chen have held another private meeting, their seventh since President Nixon and Chinese leaders agreed to periodic discussions here.

No details of the latest meeting on Wednesday were disclosed. It lasted about an hour.

Watson has submitted his resignation to Nixon, because of ill health, and it is believed he will leave his Paris post sometime late next month.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Today's affluent teen-agers was Housing Secretary George Romney's subject during a talk with parents at a Portland high school, and it was underscored by an interruption.

While Romney was talking on Wednesday, the public address system came to life and Romney had to stop.

The PA announcement was that the lights of a pupil's car were on.

ATHENS (AP) — An Athens lawyer has filed suit asking Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis be jailed for breaking plates at a seaside nightclub party last Friday.

Nicholas Galiadis said after filing the suit on Wednesday that the old Greek custom is now against the law, at least 20 persons are now serving time for plate-breaking and that Onassis should also be jailed or the law repealed. It calls for a fine and imprisonment of up to six months.

Onassis' wife Jacqueline was not present during the plate-breaking spree, which reportedly took place while actress Elsa Martinelli and Odile Rodin, widow of Porfirio Rubirosa, were attempting to learn a Greek dance.

EAST BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's Karl Marx University has conferred an honorary doctor of philosophy degree on Angela Davis, the black American Communist.

"The logic of your scientific studies, but above all the logic of your political battle, lead you as a young scientist ever closer to Marxism-Leninism," University Rector Dr. Gerhard Winkler said in conferring the degree on Wednesday.

At store opening

Wednesday was the grand opening at the new Main Dollar Store on Second Street in downtown Hope. The 7,000-square-foot store is one of a national chain of 52 stores across the nation. Sam Higdon of Marked Tree is the new store manager. Higdon transferred to the Hope Main Dollar Store from Lucky Dollar Store in Marked Tree. He and his wife Sherry, and daughter Roseanne have recently moved to Hope.

Auto dealer refuses to sell subcompacts despite profit

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — An automobile dealer, Dewey Ray of Big Spring, Tex., refuses to sell subcompact cars, despite the profit motive. He believes the popular little cars are unsafe.

"All of us have to live with our own consciences," Ray says. "It's a car I don't want the responsibility of putting any of my friends or any of their children in."

Ray has a Chrysler Motors Corp. agency in Big Spring, selling Chryslers, Imperials, Dodges and Plymouths—but not Dodge's Colt or Plymouth's Cricket, the subcompacts.

He has concluded after a review of an Insurance Institute study and a viewing of films testing the cars that they pose an extraordinary danger to driver and passengers in collisions with standard-sized autos, Ray said in an interview while on a business trip to Little Rock.

"In a head-on impact between a Colt and a Plymouth Fury at 40 or 50 miles an hour, for example, it appeared to me from actual films that a person driving the Fury could have opened the door and walked away," he said.

"But it appeared the entire front end of the Colt moved into the front seat, and I don't see how anyone could have walked away from it alive."

His condemnation of subcompact cars is not confined to Chrysler products. He believes that equally unsafe are other autos weighing in the subcompact range of 1,600 to 2,000 pounds, including Ford's Pinto, Chevrolet's Vega, the Toyota and the Datsun.

"I think the thing that has surprised Chrysler Motors so much is that they can't persuade me that the amount of money I can make on those cars should be a compelling factor for me to sell them," say Ray, 48, married and the father of five children.

He said Chrysler officials had tried to persuade him with the argument that "after all, I'm in the business to make money."

He said also that "when you compare the going price in many cases for subcompacts with the discount price of an American car or compact, I feel a man gets a lot more and certainly a lot more safety for his money."

Ray said his inquiry into the safety of subcompacts sprang from "moral" origins.

"All I want to do is give the men in my area a fair chance to judge for himself," he said. "Let him balance the safety of the car against the price of the car."

Business mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the administration's greatest tasks, a frustrating one to date, is to convince the American people that they are better off than a year ago.

Official government statistics tend to support this contention, and administration spokesmen have not forgotten to sprinkle the figures liberally throughout their statements. The effect, however, has been questionable.

In all levels of business and personal finance there can be found a feeling that the hard figures are artificial flavoring for an unappetizing mixture of inflation, unemployment and social unrest.

To a great degree, the administration itself is responsible for the rejection of the official statistics because it has used them defensively and sometimes without an understanding of the modern mood.

Expectations are higher today, part of the unfolding American dream of economic progress on every front, private and public. The idyll is displayed constantly before the public by media, public officials and others.

Moreover, government has more than ever committed itself to actively speeding the process. It promises more. More is expected.

As increasing numbers achieve some measure of financial success, the quality of life rises in their list of priorities. A clean environment, social justice, the dignity of life become elements of their broadened outlook.

Statistics do not measure these, and that appears to be a major reason for the credibility problem involved with those old sets of figures that are used to measure progress.

Gross National Product, unemployment, cost of living, and other statistical series fail to tell the complete story. They are not suspected of being adulterated; but they are considered to be incomplete measures.

The statistics show that in the past year people built their savings, reduced their debts, found more jobs. They bought new homes at a near-record rate. Their incomes rose in real dollars.

The latest Survey of Current Business published by the Commerce Department states that total personal income rose nearly 7 per cent from 1970 to 1971 while the rate of consumer prices rose 3 1/2 per cent.

In every region and state and in the District of Columbia, it said, personal income gains exceeded the increase in consumer prices "at least moderately, so that real purchasing power of consumers increased in all areas."

Since then, the inflation rate has slowly receded, but in the period from November 1971 to July 1972 the increases in personal income, based on official figures, averaged more than last year — 9.5 per cent at an annual rate.

Does this mean that people are better off? The mind records the claim, but instinct questions it.

Dr. Lawrence E. Lamb

Don't let machine be a shocker

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I recently read your column about the reducing machine Relaxacisor. I have a transistorized Relaxacisor. Are they dangerous, too? My husband says that certain types of things store up electricity. If we turn it in where would we do this and is there any chance of getting our money back on this type of device?

Dear Reader — The electrical devices that produce contractions of the stomach muscles create a problem by introducing an electrical current into the body. It is the electrical current itself that stimulates the muscles to contract. The problem with attaching these to the abdominal muscle is that the heart itself rests just at the bottom of the rib cage near the pit of the stomach.

The danger is that the electrical current will pass to the heart and literally cause electrocution. It doesn't matter whether the electrical current that is applied to the muscles of the body is provided through the electrical current from a wall socket or whether it is from a transistorized or battery model. Any of the electrical devices that use electricity to stimulate muscle contractions are dangerous. These are the ones that the Federal Trade Commission has asked to be discarded and have denied the right for their continued marketing.

This, incidentally, is not the same thing as a vibrator. A vibrator produces stimulations solely by mechanical effort. It does not introduce electrical current into the body. Vibrators also don't do much for reducing a person's excess fat either. So, specifically, the answer to your question is that the transistorized Relaxacisor that you have is dangerous and should not be used.

Regarding where you could turn it in to get your money back, I would suggest that you go back to wherever you bought it. Since the Federal Trade Commission has ruled against these items being marketed perhaps they would be willing to refund your money or part of it, but I really can't say about that. Good Luck!

Dear Dr. Lamb — I read your article about harmful nose sprays. My nose lining is always dry and I have had a post-nasal drip for years. My doctor, who's now retired, once told me to put cold cream regularly in my nostrils. My question is would plain vaseline be all right or would it be harmful. I can buy it in a small tube which is easy to carry around in my pocket.

Dear Reader — Many people are plagued by dry linings of the nose, particularly as they get older. The dry irritated feelings leads them to pick their nose. This sometimes causes bleeding. I suspect this is why your doctor recommended the cold cream. Any good lubricant can be used inside the end of the nose to prevent dryness. Vaseline would be all right. Avoid oily drops that might run back into the nasal passages or sinuses or be inhaled into the lungs.
